ATR VERDICT: Pisanello returned to form in a competitive handicap at York last month and could go well despite being burdened with a 4lb higher mark, while Repertoire and Aragon Castle both score highly for reliability and have to enter calculations. However, preference is for JAMES MCHENRY, whose best form has arguably been posted when encountering a stiff finish and the topweight can cement his authority in this company.

Top Tip: JAMES MCHENRY (1)

ATR VERDICT: A winner of his latest two starts over fences, KILMURRY JJ can complete the hat-trick. A promising horse over hurdles for his previous connections, the seven-year-old has really blossomed since switching to fences. Although this represents a tougher ask, especially without his regular jockey on board, the gelding could be up to the job. Tullyveery Lad improved on previous efforts when a good winner at Downpatrick last time. While this track presents a very different test, the eight-year-old arrives here at the top of his game. All Walks Of Life disappointed at Listowel last time but had run well on her previous start at Clonmel.

Top Tip: KILMURRY JJ (2)

Long Handicap: Lucky Question 8 - 8, Irezumi 8 - 8

ATR VERDICT: CORPORATE RAIDER (second) was narrowly denied by the reopposing Chourmo (first) when the pair met in a classified event over C&D two starts ago and, despite the former being 3lb worse off this time around, he showed a likeable attitude when making all over 1m4f here most recently and would be dangerous to overlook in his current mood. Fellow last-time-out winner Bhubezi completes the shortlist upped 4lb for winning over a mile at Chepstow, even though this step back up in trip asks a question of him.

ATR VERDICT: Runner-up on both starts here this season, VICTORY SHOUT is much better than what he showed at Thirsk last time out, and this appeals as an ideal opportunity to get back to winning ways. Dunstan was ahead of the selection when last seen and can improve on that first run for the Tom Dascombe team, while Percy Shelley should find this grade much easier for his shrewd connections.

ATR VERDICT: LADY WINGALONG was the subject of significant market support when going down narrowly in a Lingfield handicap over 7f last month, travelling well for a long way before finding one rival too good. Off just 2lb higher, her supporters can reap the rewards for keeping the faith. A 4lb penalty for a recent victory over a mile here doesn't discount Kondratiev Wave, while Porterinthejungle benefitted from the reapplication of a hood (retained) when scoring over 7f at Chepstow last time and she also enters calculations.

ATR VERDICT: Three-time winner THEONEWEDREAMOF made a promising introduction to chasing when staying on late to finish third at Kilbeggan last time. Given that she was having her first start since December, the daughter of French Navy should be all the better for that outing. Our Bobby, a winner over hurdles at Listowel last time, arrives here in great form. The gelding shaped well on two previous runs over fences so should be capable of getting involved. Arabian King also commands respect on his first start over fences.

ATR VERDICT: LADY BOUQUET scored in dominant fashion at Beverley in an apprentice handicap a week ago and the booking of William Buick is a major plus on this occasion. John Kirkup can give her the most to think about on the drop in trip, having run with credit of late over further, while Tees Douge shaped with encouragement when fourth at Doncaster last month.

ATR VERDICT: POLLING DAY shaped with more promise than the bare form suggests on his hurdling debut at Fakenham earlier this month, racing keenly up with the pace before coming to grief two from home. With that outing under his belt, he gets the vote to open his account. The unexposed Green Machine may prove a shrewd acquisition for the Fergal O'Brien team and he warrants respect on his hurdling bow, while Cusano is also considered.

ATR VERDICT: PADDYS ISLAND showed up well for a long way before fading into fourth late on over an extended 2m2f here recently but, stepping back in trip, Robbie Llewellyn's unexposed five-year-old gets the nod to show his rivals the way home. A Day To Dream was last seen finishing an excellent second over 2m at Fakenham, and a repeat of that effort should see him there or thereabouts once again. Reach For The Moon also enters calculations.

Top Tip: PADDYS ISLAND (1)

Watch out for: A DAY TO DREAM (3)

ATR VERDICT: The last time PASCALIA encountered 7f she obliged in Dundalk which gives her prospects here. She has been placed over further since and although she disappointed in Leopardstown, that may have been down to the first-time blinkers which are now discarded. Trueba was a solid third in Limerick and isn't on a bad mark with Wesley Joyce's 5lb claim factored in. Scarlet Dancer is a long-standing maiden in Ireland, but performed well in second in a quickly-run race at Gowran Park. Colin Keane is an eye-catching booking for Kami, while Leviosa and Mark's One are far from out of contention. Reserve Baalbec Beauty would have claims if getting a run.

ATR VERDICT: ELLERTON responded well to the application of a visor when finishing second behind an in-form rival over 2m1f at Newton Abbot latest, and a repeat of that effort might be enough to see him go one place better this time. Ned Cash made a promising start to life in handicaps when finishing third over shorter here last month, and another prominent showing is expected off an unchanged mark. Amalfi Bay is noted too.

ATR VERDICT: LEINSTER was a ready winner over an extended 1m2f at Down Royal and appeals on handicap debut. He holds a Group 2 entry later this month which shows the regard he is held in. Sumptuary Law is going the right way after victories in Dundalk and Leopardstown, and has to be respected up in trip. Sli Na Ghealai found a Group 3 too hot in the Curragh but, prior to that, enjoyed clear-cut victories at Down Royal and Leopardstown. She is another up in trip. Gesture is well versed over a similar trip on the Polytrack at Dundalk, but giving weight away to this field isn't going to be easy. Alabama Calling is another to consider.

ATR VERDICT: SLIEVE BINNIAN was unplaced in a much higher grade at the Curragh in May, but was beaten less than five lengths and the form of that race is working out very well. He enjoys an extended 1m2f and looks set for a big run. There is surely more to come from First Snow Moon on her second start in Ireland as she has some smart French form to her name. Bear Profit is markedly up in class, but his victory in Leopardstown can be upgraded as he had to overcome several issues throughout the race. Theophilos and Annexation are others chasing prize money.

ATR VERDICT: Joseph O'Brien's RAISE YOU showed he still retains plenty of ability when keeping on for fourth in a Group 3 at the Curragh in April. That was his first run in more than 19 months and it is worth remembering that he was a stayer who beat a former Irish St Leger winner in the Curragh a couple of years ago. Serious Challenge was a notable fourth behind the classy Kyprios in a Group 3 at Leopardstown in March. He doesn't lack stamina and is a major contender. Raise You's stablemate, Deakin, still has scope for improvement, while Chally Chute and Taipan have plenty of ability but have lengthy absences to overcome.
