ATR VERDICT: Plantaroma could only manage fourth on her handicap debut at Newbury in December, but this drop in grade/1lb lower mark might see her get closer. Even so, JENA D'OUDAIRIES looks the way to go. Paul Nicholls' six-year-old failed to justify short odds when third at Taunton last month but she makes her handicap bow off an appealing mark and it would be no surprise to see her find the improvement required. Sweet Caryline completes the shortlist.

ATR VERDICT: A literal interpretation of the official ratings combined with the riders' respective claims gives TRIBAL WISDOM (runner-up) a reasonable chance of turning around last month's C&D form around with Etretat (winner), even though the margins are still very tight. Early Morning Dew is also noteworthy back over his optimum distance, while track-and-trip winner Polling Day lurks on an attractive mark and merits a betting check on just his second start for his current yard.

ATR VERDICT: THIS FARH has run well in defeat on all three starts since being gelded and, still open to improvement over 7f, a breakthrough success is well within reach if stepping forward from his promising handicap debut last month. Enchanted Way is surely better than she managed when qualifying for a mark here 16 days ago and could give the selection a scare if revved up by first-time cheekpieces on her first run in this sphere. Jungle Cruise and Amber Honey are others to keep an eye on.

ATR VERDICT: KINGSTON PRIDE was a disappointing favourite when being pulled up in a Grade 2 event at Sandown in December, but he might be worth another chance. Nicky Henderson's charge looked an exciting prospect on his hurdling debut at Uttoxeter prior to that and could bounce back. Jus De Citron struck in good style over an extended 2m3f at Doncaster and might take a step forward on only his second start under Rules. J J Moon is the pick of the remainder.

ATR VERDICT: RECON MISSION has shown few signs of his enthusiasm waning and, after a close second in a similar race over C&D last month, the Tony Carroll-trained nine-year-old is hard to ignore off just a 1lb higher mark. Havechatma is an obvious threat after a ready success off 3lb lower at Southwell. Track-and-trip winner Diamond Dreamer tends to go well for David Probert and cannot be ruled out.

ATR VERDICT: IDEAL DES BORDES showed a likeable attitude when running out a game winner on his chasing debut over 3m1f at Wincanton last month and, with the promise of more to come over fences, another bold bid looks likely off 3lb higher. Eyed is progressing nicely with each start and he looks the main danger following a recent Market Rasen success, while Sea Invasion also merits consideration.
